RE: Proceeding 16-106 - Protecting the Privacy of Customers of Broadband and Other
Telecommunications Services

Dear Chairman Wheeler,

You have recently proposed new "privacy" _ regulations to protect consumers from online companies, but Google is exempted from these regulations!

Google knows more about the public than any other company on the planet. The KNOW our personal online shopping habits. They KNOW what we watch on the Internet. And, they KNOW how the American public chooses to live their lives.

And now, Google is even collecting our DNA!

Chairman Wheeler, your privacy rules will not secure the privacy of the American public when the WORST violator, Google, is exempted from regulation.

This isn't the first time Google has been exempted from following the regulations. When the largest government takeover of the Internet in history was passed, Google was exempted from following those rules, too.

Why are you going out of your way to protect Google? Could it be because Google and the federal government work so closely on so many projects? Could it be because Google is Obama's biggest corporate patron?

Even the biased news media has chronicled the regular meetings with Google executives at the White House. The media has also chronicled the hundreds of employees going back and forth between the Google corporation and the Obama Administration. This included at least 9 people who has changed positions between Google and the FCC!

The American public HAS noticed and they are thoroughly disgusted. And, I am, too!

Sincerely,
Edward Collins
